Submittal Policy Rules

This guide will describe the rules regarding correct assignment submittal due dates and how to request a timely assignment grade review.

Due Date Time Period

All assignments will have published due dates on the eLearning system.

All assignments will be due at 11:59 PM on the due date.

The submit button will be visible during this time period.

Assignments can be resubmitted at an unlimited number of times up to the due date and time.

Late Submittal Period

For certain amount days after the due date, the submit button will be visible for late submittal.

The following penalties will apply to late submittals based on the last late submittal date.

1st Day Late : - 10

2nd Day Late: - 15

The submit button will be visible during this late submit time period.

Assignments can be resubmitted at an unlimited number of times up to the 2nd late due date and time.

Grading Period

The TA/Graders cannot grade until the assignment is not available any longer for late submittal, which is the following 3rd day after the submittal date.

The TA/Grader has the next 7 days up to 11:59 PM after the last late submittal date to complete the grading.

The TA/Graders efforts may be graded earlier, rather than the 7-day period, but the grading due dates still apply.

The TA/Graders will post a dated announcement when the assignment grading is done.

Review Period

After the grading period has ended, the next three days are for a student to request a grade review by sending an e-mail to the TA/Grader (TAG).

Any resolution to the grade review may happen later, but the review request must be submitted to the TA/Grader over e-mail within this three-day period.

After this review period due date, if no e-mail is received, the grade will stand.

Any exception to the above stated rules will require contacting the professor via e-mail.

Only extraordinary situations will be considered.

Recall that all e-mails should include in the e-mail subject/title the course.section.
